

FINANCE FUNCTION OUTSOURCING

We started using SKS as an outsourced Finance Function early in 2017.

The transition was remarkably smooth and, through the dedicated team, we are now receiving accurate reports on time.

This is on top of cost savings and fewer operational headaches.

“We save up to 40% on accounting costs and have raised £1m-£70m for clients”

Here at SKS, we pride ourselves on being different. We provide accounting and tax services with a strategic approach using technology and process efficiency whilst building relationships. We support businesses all over the world with the difficult challenges of running a business in a positive way, with positive results.

We operate a unique 'hybrid' model with senior staff in over 30 offices across the UK, and a back-office team in India.

The finance function is an incredibly important part of any business, from delivering vital reports that help business owners make informed decisions, to providing real-time key performance data.

Our main purpose is to provide you with real-time, relevant financial information that helps you fully understand where the business is and how you are performing.

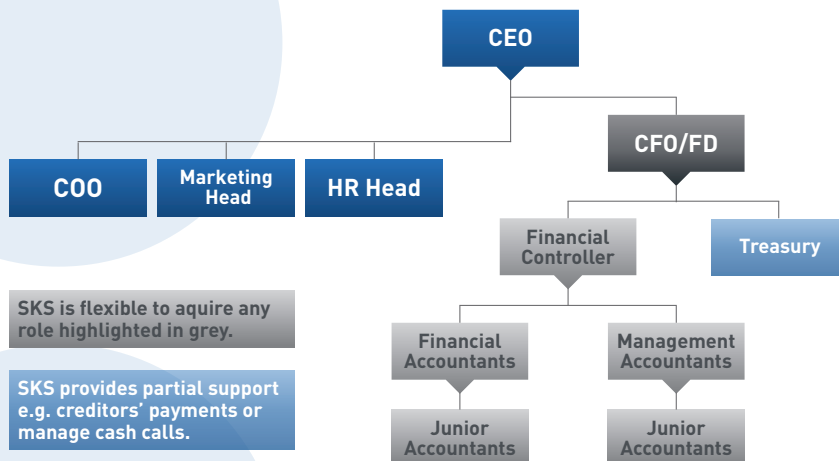

Using our an innovative 'shared services' business model, we're able to provide a wealth of information through accounting and tax services right through to CFO level. This can not only bring a cost reduction of up to 40%, but means your key team members are freed from manual tasks and can maximise their value to the business.

Reasons to outsource your finance function

When your finance function is executed in-house, it often receives less attention than other departments. After all, creating revenue must be the primary focus of any business. However, when you outsource your finance department, your finances are handled by a finance and accounting services company that gives it an utmost priority.

SKS Business Services were appointed as Black Dragon Gold's financial accounting services firm to assist with and then manage our company's transition to the current reporting set up.

Due to Black Dragon terminating the former CFO, the initial phase was quite challenging. This initial phase included reporting our half-year reporting requirements, quarterly cash flow, and restatement of the FY19 Annual Report to both the ASX and Sedar all ahead of schedule and within budget.

We operate across 3 geographical locations (Australia, Europe & Canada), and with the SKS team assisting me, the transition went extremely well, and we now have a professional set up.

As a result, we have streamlined our reporting function which has improved our internal decision-making. In addition, we are saving nearly 40% compared to our previous finance team costs. I could not have managed nor taken on this new role without SKS and as a result, I can highly recommend them for your requirements.

Gabriel Chiappini, CFO and Company Secretary
Black Dragon Gold Corporation

We also assist with:

- Modelling of acquisitions or divestments and preparation of proforma capital structure. Modelling can be shared with equity and debt providers, some of them we know and are willing to introduce.
- Automation of reporting (for example, we have experience in the implementation of sage Accpac, an EPR system). We are software natural meaning we can work with your existing or recommended accounting systems.
- Complex Tax Planning
